SAFETY DRIVE DINNER TONIGHT

State Commission Official To Address Gathering at Hotel Harding.

CAMPAIGN ENDS FRIDAY

Twenty-Two Meetings Today Brings Total Held Thus Far to Seventy-Seven.

Final arrangements were made today for the second major dinner meeting tonight of the countywide safety drive being sponsored by the Y's Men's Service club and the state industrial commission.

The dinner will start at 6:30 p. m., in Hotel Marion, with I. E. Evans, actuary of the commission, as the principal speaker. His talk will deal with the rates assessed contributors to the industrial insurance funds and the ways in which contributors can help reduce these rates. Manufacturers and heads of other concerns which contribute to the fund are invited to attend.

With the drive ending Friday, leaders announced today that no more group meetings can be scheduled, since Friday's schedule is now completed. Twenty-two meetings today brought the total held thus far to 77, H. L. Dowler, chairman of the campaign, reported this morning. The number of persons attending the meetings totaled 8,718 last night, he said. The audience to be reached in today's meetings has not been determined.

Today's scheduled meetings follow.

Vernon Heights Junior High school, Kresge and Grant Co. stores, Uhler-Phillips Co., Forest Lawn school, George Washington school, St. Mary parochial school, The Marion Star, Central Junior High school's vocational students, women employes of the Susquehanna Silk Mills, Greenwood Street school, Pearl Street school, two Standard Oil Co. meetings, one this afternoon and one tonight at 7:30, and the Ohio Associated Telephone Co.'s employes at 7:30 p. m.

MARION PARACHUTE JUMPER IN ACCIDENT

Arthur Kenyon Escapes Major Injuries in West Virginia Plunge.

Arthur Kenyon of 419 Blaine avenue, parachute jumper, narrowly escaped electrocution when he came down among high tension wires after a leap near Parkersburg, W. Va., Sunday, according to word received by relatives here. One of his legs was burned by the flash which followed the short circuit caused by the breaking of three wires.

Kenyon fell first through a series of telephone wires, then broke two insulated electric wires each carrying 2,300 volts. He passed directly between two uninsulated wires each carrying 33,000 volts. His parachute became entangled in the wires and broke the fall. He cut loose from the chute when only a few feet above the earth to prevent a "ground" through the shrouds of his equipment, which would have proved fatal, according to employes of the electric company who rushed to the scene after turning off the power in the lines over head.

Kenyon dropped from an altitude of 7,000 feet out of a cabin plane.

UNION REPORTS BIG GAINS IN EMPLOYMENT

New Troubles Involve Ford: Assembly Plant Closed After Strike.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 — Big employment gains today were attributed to the Roosevelt recovery program by William Green, American Federation of Labor chieftain, but employer-labor difficulties, this time involving Henry Ford, continued to worry NRA officials.

Green said the federation's estimate that 815,000 persons returned to work in August represented "greater progress in employment" than in any month since depression." He counted the remaining unemployed at 11,001,000, and said "relief needs this winter will be greater than ever before."

Coincident with Green's comments on the recovery program were fresh intimations that a change in monetary policies to aid farm prices may be forthcoming soon. Dr. James H. Rogers of Yale returned from a talk with President Roosevelt to confer with ranking federal financial officers.

Comment Withheld

Though official comment was lacking, the Rogers conferences served to revive talk of a commodity dollar with less than the present dollar's buying power.

While representatives of the aluminum and banking businesses gathered for public hearings today, on their NRA codes, recovery officials were concerned at the sudden closing of the Ford plant at Chester, Pa., after a strike of workers. Henry Ford has never signed the automobile code.

"The NRA is powerless if an employer chooses to shut down his plant," Senator Wagner, chairman of the national labor board, commented when a mediator sent to

Report No Significance To Closing of Ford Plant

DETROIT, Mich., Spt. 28—Ford Motor Co. officials declined to admit today that there was any significance in the closing of the Chester, Pa., assembly plant, where an undetermined number of men were on strike.

It was explained here that because of the closely interlocking nature of all production units in a Ford plant, absence of even a few key men is likely to result in cessation of all operations.

The officials have claimed that only a few hundred men were on strike in the Chester plant, although 2,400 in all were affected.

They refused to comment on reports that this strike might bring to a head Henry Ford's reported refusal to recognize the collective bargaining provisions of the national automobile code. Ford has refused to sign the code, but has let it be known that the company intends to more than live up to the work-wage provisions.

The 32-hour week that the Ford company put into effect this week in what was described as a plan to strike an average of 35 hours, as specified by the NRA code, was one of the grievances of the assembly plant workmen, although they also are asking a $5 daily minimum.

The Ford company, which was paying a minimum wage of 50 cents an hour when the code became effective, since has raised the minimum to $4.80 a day for production workers and spokesmen have said that a schedule was being worked out to extend the increase to non-productive workmen.

STRIKES SPREADING TO STEEL DISTRICTS

Iron Workers Join Miners in Seeking Recognition of Unions.

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Sept. 28 — Labor unrest spread from mines to mills in the great tri-state industrial area today, enlisting steel workers in the walkout movement begun by coal diggers demanding union recognition.

More than 75,000 men, including 10,000 steel company employes, are idle in western Pennsylvania, northern West Virginia and eastern Ohio.

Spread of the steel walkout to the Pittsburgh area is looked for by union chiefs who have been active among workers in the plants of U. S. Steel Corp. subsidiaries.

The first rumblings of trouble in the mills came from the Weirton Steel company's plant at Weirton, W. Va., where some 5,000 men were forced into idleness after a dispute between the company union and the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin workers.

Union heads said the movement then spread to the company's Steubenville, O., plant, across the Ohio river, and last night 200 men in the Clarksburg, W. Va., plant voted to walk out and picket the mills.

Polish Noble and Wife in City Today

Prince and American-Born Princess Spend Night Here.

Marion was chosen as a stopping place last night by Prince and Princess Czetwertynski of Warsaw, Poland, who are in this country on a sight-seeing tour. The couple, who are members of the Polish nobility, left this morning by motor for Detroit after spending the night in Hotel Harding.

Before leaving Marion, the young couple viewed the Harding memorial. They came here last night from Columbus.

In U. S. 18 Months

Prince Czetwertynski said his stay in this country is purely for personal reasons, mainly that he wanted to see the country. The couple has been in the United States for about 18 months and are now leisurely touring east from the Pacific coast. San Diego, Calif., evidently was a highlight of their trip for the prince spoke of that city when asked if they had been in California.

The prince spoke in broken English and many of his remarks were interpreted for a reporter by the princess, who is American-born.

The princess made it clear to the reporter that she and the prince are not of royal blood but are members of the Polish nobility. Since Poland has not been under a monarchy for 125 years, the princess said she becomes indignant when asked by "nine out of ten reporters" if they are of royal blood.

Speaks of Pianist

The couple spoke of the dictatorship under which Poland is ruled, with Marshal Pilsudski at the helm, and some of their remarks indicated unrest in parts of the country. Ignace Paderewski, famed pianist who devotes much of his time and personal fortune to service for Poland, his native land, is regarded highly in many parts of Poland, the prince said, while in other districts the opinion differs.

Although the couple registered at the hotel under their title, their presence in Marion was comparatively unknown. In appearance the prince differed little from Americans, although his quiet manner and continental manners gave indication of his rank.

"School Days" Theme Song for Cooking Class

"School Days" will be the theme song of the cooking school to be conducted next week in The Star auditorium by Mrs. Ruth Campbell, cooking school lecturer and demonstrator with The Marion Star as host.

In place of the armful of books the "puplis" will be asked to bring note book and pencil, a pair of good ears, a nose to smell the good things cooking on the platform and a pair of eyes to see how Mrs. Campbell mixes, stirs, beats, whisks a dish into the oven and out again, how she creates a gorgeous salad, ices a cake, makes a delicious pie, turns out a savory roast. This is the school The Star has planned for the women of Marion and vicinity and which this nationally-famous lecturer will put on for every housekeeper of the city.

"Tell your readers to bring their housekeeping problems, especially their cookery questions to the cooking school," Mrs. Campbell said in writing The Star about her

9 MILLION OFF TAX DUPLICATE

Figures of County Auditor Thomas Value Real Estate at $52,900,000.

NOT APPROVED BY STATE

Preparations Made To Ask Commission's OK; Other Counties Also Down.

Marion county's real estate tax duplicate will be approximately $52,900,000 or $9,300,000 less than the 1931 duplicate, it was announced today in the office of County Auditor Earl E. Thomas where preparations are being made to file the duplicate with the state tax commission for approval.

Fifty-six Ohio counties already have filed their 1933 duplicates with the commission and all but two of them have received approval, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Columbus.

A 15 per cent blanket reduction in the duplicate, ordered last year by the county board of control to give Marion county taxpayers reductions in keeping with those made in other counties, is principally responsible for the decrease in the duplicate, officials explained.

Have Had Reduction

Marion county taxpayers have had the benefit of the 15 per cent reduction this year, Auditor Thomas said. The reduction was put into effect this year by deducting 30 per cent from tax bills for the June collection period, recently ended, thus giving taxpayers the equivalent of a 15 per cent reduction for the June and preceding December collections, it was explained.

Before deducting the 15 per cent cut and making other adjustments necessitated by the construction of new buildings and destruction of others by fire, the Marion county duplicate stood at $62,200,000, county records show.

Lindberghs Impressed at Russian Aviation Advance

Colonel and Wife, Guests at Moscow Banquet, Laud Soviet Experimental Work.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, Sept. 28—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh and his wife are so impressed by the experimental aviation work that is being carried on in Soviet Russia that they hope to return to this country in a couple of years to see for themselves how the experiments have worked out.

The colonel told of this desire at a banquet given in honor of himself and his wife last night. Two United States senators—W. G. McAdoo of California and R. R. Reynolds of North Carolina—were present, and a four-piece orchestra periodically played "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean."

FEAR FELT FOR MAN HELD BY PEN FUGITIVES

State Police Believe Convicts May Have Slain Sheriff.

GUARDSMEN JOIN HUNT

Escaped Desperadoes Reported Seen at Various Points in Two States.

By The Associated Press

CHESTERTON, Ind., Sept. 28 — There was a growing apprehension today that Sheriff Charles Neel of Corydon, Ind., may have been put to death by four of the 10 convicts who staged a mad dash their way out of the Indiana state prison last Tuesday.

Captain Mathew Leach in command of the Indiana state police, frankly said he was worried over the fate of the missing sheriff who was kidnaped by the escaping felons, and that he now was concentrating their efforts on an attempt to find the sheriff rather than the capture of the missing convicts.

"We'll get them sooner or later anyway," he predicted.

Reported Seen

Meanwhile 200 national guardsmen were ordered to join the police in their search for the convicts who have been reported seen in various places. One report had four or five of the desperadoes in Chicago, another sent officers hurrying to a spot near Valparaiso while a third caused 150 officers to surround a wooded tract near Morocco, Ind. No trace of the missing men, however, was found.

Some of the convicts may be hiding at Ottawa, Ill., Sheriff E. J. Weller notified prison authorities today.

One of the two men who stopped in Ottawa last night to buy gasoline fits the description, Sheriff Weller said, of William Dietrich.

Carried Guns

The two carried a sawed off shotgun and a pistol gun in their car.

Dietrich's companion roughly answered the description of Russell Clark. A long facial scar and a squint led to the belief the man might be Dietrich.

The two, driving a dark green sedan with no license plates, refueled their car at a station near the Ottawa police station late last night. Andrew Claus, attendant, said both were gray prisoners, which is the Indiana prison garb but had topcoats and caps.

U.S. and Japan Left Out of New Arms Pact

By The Associated Press

GENEVA, Sept. 28 A patched up disarmament agreement designed primarily for Europe and based on mutual political arrangements, with the United States and Japan both left out of the picture, seemed today to be the tendency of disarmament negotiations here.

Indications were seen that the American delegation was not fully informed about political details of the forthcoming arms conference, which probably will include a greater consideration of the German viewpoint of equality than is generally realized.

Ambassador Naotake Sato of Japan conferred today with American Ambassador-at-large Norman H. Davis.

It was learned authoritatively that Japan's position is to allow European powers to reach an agreement if possible and then allow Japan to pass on the results, making reservations to an eventual treaty or refraining altogether from signing if the contents are found altogether unacceptable.

It was said that Japan has no intention of denouncing the London naval treaty but believes the French should not push their plan for including naval agreements in a Geneva arms treaty.

MAIL BANDITS MISS $100,000

LOOT PLACED AT $3,000

Guards Mistake Thieves, Roughly Dressed, for Extra Postal Laborers.

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Sept. 28 Three robbers snatched three pouches of registered mail containing valuables worth $3,000 from a moving jitney truck at the south station today but left behind other mail sacks containing approximately $100,000.

One of the missed sacks was known as a "coin bag" and was outward bound to banks. Postal officials told the police this contained money aggregating $40,000 to $50,000.

Payrolls In Mail

The other mail sacks were to be sent to Taunton, Mass., and Newport, R. I., the police were informed, and contained payrolls, in addition to the general run of registered mail. The postoffice officials said the total value of the contents of the missed sacks was more than $100,000 and might be as high as $200,000.

The thieves, according to police reports, concealed themselves in telephone booths near the receiving room of the postal station and rushed the trucks as the money was being removed to be placed aboard trains. Gathering up the registered mail sacks, witnesses said, the thieves fled through the baggage room to a waiting automobile.

Acting Chief Inspector John Lucey of the New England postal district and acting Postmaster Frank S. Childs of Boston took charge of the search for the thieves.

Guards Bewildered

So quickly did the robbers act that John Higgins, the bewildered driver of the truck on which the pouches were being transferred with a number of others to an early train, protested he had seen no robbery committed. He offered no resistance to the three men, each of whom quickly picked a sack from the truck and departed to an outside loading platform where the fourth man sat at the wheel of an automobile.

Believed Inside Job

Early in the investigation a member of the railroad police expressed the belief the robbery was an "inside" job. A curious circumstance was that many postal employes had seen the three robbers about the place for some time before the robbery was committed but because all were ... garbed the employes had considered they were merely post office laborers reporting for extra work.

Wesley C. Poole, a guard assigned to the truck, was the only man in the vehicle, he said, and as the robbers and Higgins left he was seen to ... robbery committed.

BOARD ASKS $352,376 FOR 1934 EXPENSES

Total Shows Decrease of $68,335 Under Amount Actually Spent in 1932.

BOND FUND IS LOWER

Charity Requests for Next Year Show Increase as Needs Become Greater.

The county commissioners this morning adopted a 1934 county budget calling for a total of $352,367, which is $68,335 less than the amount actually spent in county government in 1932.

The budget was adopted after a public hearing, at which no protests were made, and was turned over to the budget commission to be used with budgets of the county's other subdivisions as the basis for 1934 tax rates. The county budget is the commissioners' estimate of the requirements for meeting all county expenses in 1934.

Of the total of $352,367 sought by the commissioners, $197,000 is to come from general taxes on Marion county real estate, the budget shows. Other amounts, including $60,000 from gasoline taxes, $26,443 from automobile license fees and $5,000 from fees and fines, is to come from sources other than general taxation on real estate, the budget shows.

Operating Funds

The total of $352,367 in the budget includes a request for $244,539.57 for county operating expenses in 1934, of which $172,260.61 is to come from general taxation on real estate; $60,000 for road maintenance and repair, to come from gasoline taxes; $25,128 for bond retirement purposes and $22,700 for county roads and bridges.

The county will have $29,201.16 less to operate on in 1934 than it had in 1932, if its request for $244,539.57 for 1934 is allowed by the budget commission. Actual operating expenses in 1932, records show, totaled $273,830.73.

As in the past, the commissioners are relying entirely on funds to be received from the state for highway, road and bridge revenue. They anticipate $22,700 for county roads and bridges, to come from the sale of motor vehicle license plates, an increase of $3,313 obtained from that source in 1932. In addition, they anticipate receiving $60,000 in gasoline taxes, a decrease of $31,426 from the gasoline taxes spent in this county in 1932.

Bond Needs Lower

The amount the county will need next year to retire bonds is fixed at $25,128, as compared with $36,072 required for that purpose in 1932.

An analysis of the budget requests for operating purposes, totaling $244,539.57, shows that the commissioners are seeking increased amounts for charity purposes and reducing other expenses to effect a reduction of $29,291.16 under 1932 expenditures for operating purposes.

One sizeable increase is noted in the soldiers' relief needs for 1934, totaling $10,000, as compared with $2,278 spent for that purpose in 1932. Commissioners explained

Benefits of Safety Plan Are Outlined by Speaker

In this article, the third of a series of safety messages similar to those being given this week by speakers in the countywide safety campaign, Sidney Smith of Mansfield, special investigator for the division of safety and hygiene of the industrial commission, discusses safety from the industrial viewpoint.

Results that appear startling to those not acquainted with the benefits of safety practice in industries have been obtained in many Ohio plants in the last few years as the result of the efforts of the division of safety and hygiene to make Ohio employers and employes "safety conscious." This statement was made by Sidney Smith, safety worker for the industrial commission, this morning as he prepared to continue a series of talks in this city in connection with the safety campaign spo[nsored]

One plant manager Mr. Smith mentioned, moved a wall 10 feet to make way for a guard on a piece of equipment. His employes, noting this evidence of genuine interest in their welfare, cooperated in the safety movement and a record savings in loss of time and cost of medical attention resulted, he said.

Trained safety engineers employed by the division of safety and hygiene are available at all times and without expense to help plant managers work out safety problems, he said.

In connection with the campaign now in progress, Mr. Smith continued it would be well for employers to confer with industrial commission representatives to learn if they are paying a penalty in the form of industrial insurance rates for their plants. Industrial insurance rates, he explained, are based on each $100 of payroll in a plant but penalties of 15 to 50 per cent are added to the rate if the plant has numerous accidents.

Points To Savings

Mr. Smith urged industrial employers to take advantage of the savings made possible by a plant safety program, to post safety bulletins in their shops and to fall in step with plants throughout the state now benefiting from safetey methods.

Mr. Smith predicted that a safety council will be organized among Marion industries to eliminate industrial accidents, after noting the "splendid reception" given the safety workers in the countywide safety campaign.

Ohio Boys Cut College Costs by Doing Their Own Cooking

Special to The Star

BOWLING GREEN, O.—"College isn't such an expensive proposition if you practice a little economy and do your own cooking," declared John Moore of Haskins, as he finished cooking his final meal before departing from Bowling Green State college at the close of the summer.

Moore, a senior next fall, intends to go on cooking his own meals next winter, as do his roommates, Ford Murray, of Napoleon, diminutive athlete, and Don Everett, of Lancaster, Glee Club leader.

Moore, a member of the college debate team, gained a reputation around the campus for his chicken dinners and fine steaks, while young Murray, who, despite his size handicap, has won five varsity letters in football, basketball and track in two years, didn't take a back seat when it came to baking bread, pies and cakes.

The three boys lived comfortably in a 5 room apartment, had plenty of time for their activities at Bowling Green college and got through the year for a total of $300, they estimated at the close of the academic year and summer school. That is an average of $100 apiece.

Realizing the difficulties many prospective students are facing to make ends meet this year, scores of Bowling Green homes are being equipped for student cooking this year when the college opens on Sept. 18.

WIDOW OF DOCTOR DIES AT CRESTLINE

HARTFORD, Conn.—Jack Kelly is only 10 years old but he knows his politics.

Last November he bet a neighbor, Mrs. David Whittlesey, Roosevelt would be elected president. If he won, Mrs. Whittlesey was to bake him a blueberry pie. If he lost, Mrs. Whittlesey could smear his face with it.

Jack waited eight months for the blueberry season to collect his bet.

Daily Guide to Health

BY DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND.

Health Preserves.

A RECENT EDITORIAL in the Journal of the American Medical association states that the protection of health through the periodic physical examination is like international disarmament. It has been "accepted in principle," but with little practical result. This is unfortunate, for no one will deny the many benefits to be derived from periodical physical examinations.

The periodic health examination was first suggested in 1861 by Horace Dobell. Since then it has been advised as a measure of protection against disease by physicians and surgeons, state and county medical societies, public health officials and various health institutes.

I believe that the public has failed to appreciate the value of such examinations. Perhaps this is because too little stress has been placed upon their benefits.

I agree with the article from which I have quoted. I indorse, too, the thought that "too much emphasis has been placed on life extension and not enough on life enrichment."

If everyone, especially the young, would realize that health and happiness can be preserved only by care and prompt attention to body defects, many chronic ailments would be prevented. It is probable that many of the chronic disorders of middle age would not arise if the youth of today appreciated the importance of regular physical examinations. Then they would become familiar with the necessary measures for guarding the health of the body.

It is true that life may be prolonged by periodic visits to the doctor. But of greater importance is the fact that good health and happiness can be practically assured if the necessary steps are taken at an early age. Every youth should be taught that good health and physical strength are necessary for a happy and useful life. He must be made to believe that it is his daily obligation to keep physically fit and mentally awake.

We are indeed indebted to every agency that stresses the value of periodic physical examinations in early life and that strives to impress upon the public the importance of the plan. It is hoped that by close cooperation between the medical professions and the public, progress toward better health will result.

I urge all my readers who have not recently consulted a physician to do so now. Also, have the children taken to the doctor for a complete physical examination and follow any instructions and advice that he may give you.

In addition, I would advise that regular visits be made to the dentist. Bear in mind that good and strong teeth are essential to health. The temporary teeth as well as the permanent teeth should receive proper attention.

Answers to Health Queries.

Mrs. A. S. Q. I am a young woman of 23, married and the mother of two children. Lately I have been troubled with dizzy spells, nervousness and flushing of the face. I am all right when sitting down, but as soon as I get up or start to walk I feel my head starting to spin. What would you advise? I am not subject to constipation but was told that I had a gall bladder condition about two years ago.

A. Have your blood pressure tested. Make sure that the system is clear. For further particulars send a self-addressed stamped envelope and repeat your question.

Kindly. Q. What do you advise for sour stomach?

A. This is usually due to acid in the system caused by a faulty diet and poor elimination.

R. K. Q. What causes ringing in the ears?

A. This is often due to nasal catarrh which has extended to the middle ear. Send self-addressed stamped envelope for further particulars and repeat your question.

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Sept. 28—While some of these radio commissions are telling how many kilowatts and how many detours stations can have, why don't they limit them to how many rumors they can broadcast without any single lots of facts.

I am getting tired of being used as the object of some catastrophe, and I suppose lots of others have the same thing happen to 'em all over the country. Let 'em lose some lawsuits and they will start investigating before they start broadcasting.

Well, I see where the New York Stock Exchange baffled Tammany out of the tax. They are going to put it on the street car and subway travelers.

NEVADA, Sept. 28—A special session of the Nevada council was called by Mayor C. M. Coons Friday evening to receive the report of Engineer Floyd Browne of Marion on the waterworks and sewage systems under consideration for the village. The engineer's report was taken to Columbus by Mr. Browne on Saturday and submitted to the state engineer for approval.

An ordinance was passed by the council establishing a board of trustees of public affairs to control, operate and manage the proposed systems. Dr. S. S. Barrett, H. G. Fox and C. P. Miller were appointed by Mayor Coons as members of this committee.

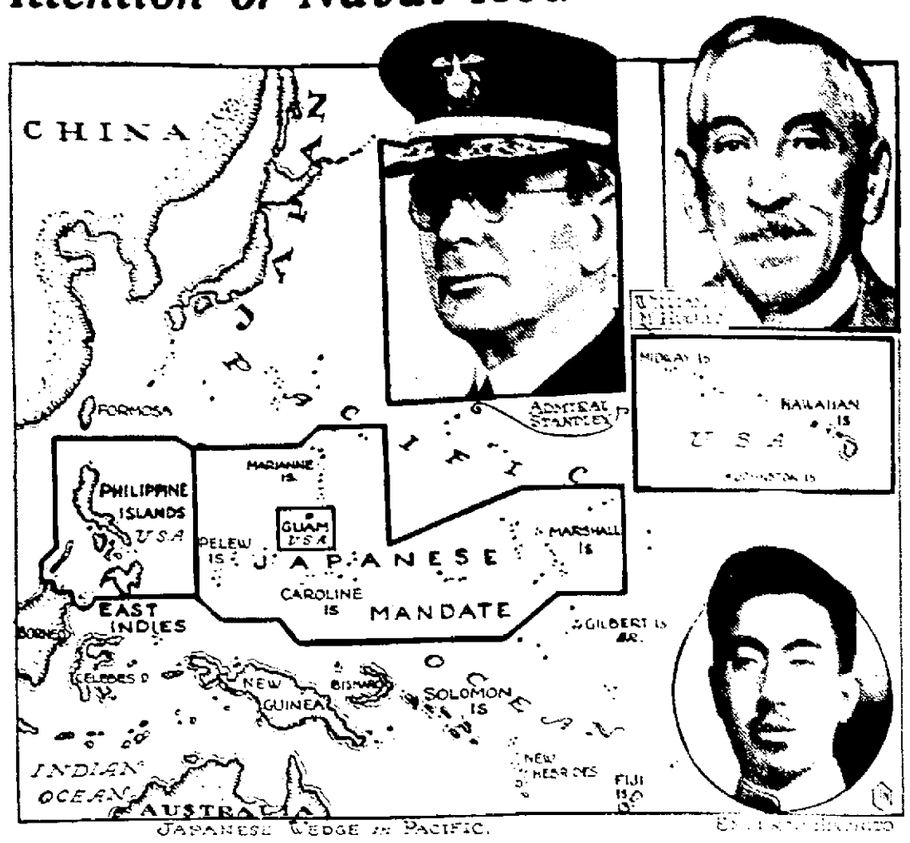
Reports of Japanese Activities Focus Attention of Naval Heads on Pacific



A report from London that Japan is secretly building warships and hiding them away in concealed bases for "future use," followed by the declaration in Sidney, Australia, by former Premier W. M. Hughes, that war in the Pacific is inevitable, focuses attention on the Far East. The recent announcement by Admiral William H. Standley, United States chief of naval operations, that America would continue to maintain her scouting fleet in the Pacific, evoked a statement from the Japanese naval department that the Roosevelt administration is bent on pursuing the "Hoover policy" (meaning distruct of Nippon). Meanwhile, by League of Nations mandate, Japan holds all the islands in mid-Pacific, as shown in map. Possession of these islands by Japan drives a strategic wedge between Uncle Sam's two main Pacific possessions—the Philippines and the Hawaiian Islands. The map also shows the relation of the Jap controlled islands to Australia.

WASHINGTON—That something is most decidedly brewing in the Pacific is the opinion of naval strategists, who make it their business to keep a watchful eye in the general direction of the Far East. And, lest the belief may be considered peculiar to Washington alone, it might be pointed out that similar predictions are current in such widely-separated points as England and Australia.

Secretive Nippon

The London report is to the effect that Japan is secretly building up a gigantic navy far in excess of London Treaty limits, in addition to the tonnage planned under the second naval replenishment program. Specifically, the report states that submarines are being built on a "mass production scale" with parts being stowed away at the Yokosuka and Kure bases, "until needed."

Jumping to Sydney, Australia, we learn that W. M. Hughes, the former premier of that country, one of its most influential statesmen who is not given to empty, alarmist thunderings, has warned his country that "a war in the Pacific is inevitable and permanent peace an illusion."

Speaking over a nation-wide radio hook-up Hughes asserted that the conquest of Manchuria will be no permanent solution of Japan's problem of finding room for her rapidly-increasing population, leaving it to the imagination of his listeners as to where Nippon would make her next expansion move.

Nearer Home

Although the dyed-in-the-wool American nationalist may dismiss the London and Australian reports as alarmist ravings, he cannot shut his eyes to the situation that exists in the Pacific today.

A glance at the map will convince the most skeptical that in the event of trouble between the United States and Japan, Nippon holds a very strategic position. Her island empire has grown by leaps and bounds until it now occupies the whole mid-Pacific region between the two most important American possessions the Hawaiian islands and the Philippines.

Japan acquired her original mandate over the group of islands between the American possession under the Treaty of Versailles as a member of the League of Nations. But when Japan retired from the league following the controversy over the Lytton report on Manchuria she made no move to return the Pacific mandate to the league but has signified her intention of retaining the islands as a permanent possession of her island empire. Naval strategists hold the opinion that just as soon as the United States withdraws from the Philippines, they, too, will be drawn into the empire.

Jap Sentiment

Meanwhile, Tokio is doing a bit of worrying on its own. The announcement by Admiral William H. Standley, chief of naval operations, that the United States would continue to maintain her scouting fleet in the Pacific, evoked a statement from the Japanese naval department that the Roosevelt administration evidently considered the Far Eastern situation still unsettled and was pursuing a policy similar to that followed by the Hoover administration under Secretary of State Stimson. A navy spokesman added that the "Imperial Japanese navy is not concerned about the matter."

But, despite official silence it is known that the Imperial Japanese navy is greatly concerned over President Roosevelt's determination that makes for American security.

Tripping a hotel employe in a revolving window succeeded in two California men instead of their quarry, a team of crooks, hardly escaped almost as quickly.

A Writing Man.

The death of Ring W. Lardner brings to a close the writings of a man who, without any intention of making a deep impress on the minds of his contemporaries, made so many light and fanciful impressies that he will not be forgotten. He lived and wrote abundantly. In the judgment of those who knew him and read his creations, he did both things well.

Few newspapermen succeed, as he did, in rising above the anonymity of their profession. They try as hard and perhaps in their individual ways they do as well, but they lack the bright spark of genius necessary to set them apart from the obscurity which is part of the tradition of American journalism.

Perhaps it is because so few men are able to write spontaneously that there are so few Lardners in an occupation which offers freely the same opportunities he enjoyed. Not all by far of the tremendous mass of copy he turned out in his life is "good stuff," but appearing here and there are many bright bits of creation which some critics honestly believe are imperishable.

Probably, Ring Lardner never was concerned with what laurels he might win as a literary figure. He was preeminently a writing man, filling sheet after sheet with copy because that was the thing he liked to do best. His successful career is an inspiration to all those who dare to believe there is a remunerative place for the writing man in the scheme of things.

All for the People.

When Joseph V. McKee seized the opportunity to show New York City and other American municipalities how an honest mayor should conduct himself, after James J. Walker had left the metropolis, he built a reputation which will not be destroyed easily. If it were otherwise, Mr. McKee might tumble back into obscurity as quickly as he jumped into prominence.

Scrutinizing his present position as regards politics in the nation's largest city, few of his countrymen can muster the same feeling of admiration which they customarily have held for him since he became a national figure. Most of them are convinced by the evidence that Mr. McKee is considering seriously a move smacking strongly of opportunism.

His name has been suggested as an independent candidate for mayor. Broad rumors of support from the national administration for his candidacy have been circulated. It is said that Postmaster Farley would like to utilize his popularity to strike a blow at Tammany Hall. Where there is so much smoke there must be fire, and Mr. McKee has admitted that he might consider entering the race.

It would mean that after having refused a chance to become mayor by a direct method he intends to try to slip into the job through a side door. He had his chance and turned it down, choosing to forsake politics for a remunerative private position.

His candidacy, or even his consent to be used in political machinations at this time, probably would complicate the attempt being made to defeat the Democratic machine in New York City. It would have been pleasant to go on believing that at least one man in municipal politics really tried to do everything possible for the public good. Mr. McKee is trying faith severely by his behavior.

Strikes.

Senator Wagner of New York, chairman of the national labor board, an organization created by power of the national recovery act, has appealed to labor to submit its troubles to the board before resorting to strikes. It is the senator's belief—and he shares it with many thinking people—that the labor board is one of the most potentially productive outgrowths of the recovery program. Ideally, its operation could prevent the enormous waste caused annually by conflicts between capital and labor.

Actually, as far as the immediate present is concerned, its operation does not promise a great deal. Although it has settled successfully several impending strikes, thereby revealing the possibilities of its effectiveness, strikes promise to continue to be the order of the day in most situations where labor and capital are in open conflict. Mediation is viewed with distrust when labor's mood is receptive. Even during the last several months, by opening new horizons to the eyes of [illegible] to restlessness.

Yet, there can be [illegible] Senator Wagner's hopes [illegible] will settle disputes [illegible] that are possible [illegible] of calling a strike. [illegible] Wagner has no desire [illegible] cept those which are [illegible] abilities of mediation [illegible] He reserves to labor the [illegible] capital of its services when [illegible] fair demands.

The recovery program will [illegible] seriously if strikes become general. [illegible] present circumstances, labor's [illegible] demands honest recognition by [illegible] hasty decisions on its part [illegible] improve its condition through [illegible] system upon whose proper [illegible] pends improvement.

Bar Standards.

A statement worth reading twice has been filed with the Ohio supreme court by Dean Orvill C. Snyder of the Columbus college of law. It is a plea for elevation of legal standards. It reads, in part, "Unless members of the bar and the bar association are willing to work hard and faithfully at raising standards, let us hang our heads in shame and cease prating hypocritically and placing foolish restrictions in the way of unapplied generalities which will be, and are, evaded by the most unfit and which prevent the admission of the really deserving."

Many of the demands made for elevation of the law's prestige do not seem to take account of the fact that the status of a legal system is determined largely by the composite character of those who work within the system. Thus, there has been lengthy discussion of the necessity for changing the system, without sufficient attention to the effect that questionable practitioners would have on any system, new or old. The real necessity is for self-reform, not external application of new rules.

It is not claiming too much to say that the legal profession, whenever a sufficient number of its members determine to do so, can regain the prestige it has sacrificed to its own unworthy practices. There has been, in the past, a fluctuation from low to high in legal prestige, and it seems reasonable to expect that if some lawyers have brought disrepute to the profession in this age other lawyers will appear to offset their effect in forthcoming years.

Fortunately, the profession is not blind to its shortcomings. Many of its conscientious members, like Dean Snyder, have dared to criticize it frankly. It seems safe to say that the great majority of lawyers are willing to accept criticisms in the spirit with which they are presented. From the majority should come such a response as Dean Snyder has described. There must be hard and faithful work to raise fallen standards. "Our profession is good if practiced in the spirit of it," said Daniel Webster. "It is damnable fraud and iniquity when its true spirit is supplied by a spirit of mischief-making or of money-getting."

Mushrooms.

When benefits of the unusual moistiness of fall weather this year are being recited, champions of the mushroom insist on a hearing. Not in years has their insatiable appetite for a delicacy whose availability depends so directly on rainfall been satisfied as it has within the last few weeks.

To the most of them, the gathering of mushrooms is a pleasure in itself, separate from the later satisfaction enjoyed at table. As they go forth in the early morning with their baskets and as they plod back and forth over pastures, there is that eagerness in their gaze and tread which will be found later among rabbit hunters. What might easily appear as hard work is transformed by zeal into sport.

They have little patience with the fears of those who regard all mushrooms with suspicion. Actually, there is little danger of confusing Agaricus Campestris, the "meadow mushroom," with any of the poisonous varieties, although there are hundreds of the latter to be found. In appearance, as in smell and taste, it enjoys real individuality. To be sure, there is always the necessity for caution, but when caution is permitted to encourage abstinence it becomes unreasonable.

Good cooks and good eaters know there is no other taste quite like that of fresh mushrooms well prepared. Enthusiasm goes so far during such a propitious season as this one, in fact, that the mushroom frequently is released from its role as a flavorer and enjoys greater prestige as a piece de resistance. Unlike numerous other delicacies which scarcely could stand such emphasis, its consumption to the point of satiety only quickens the desire to have more.

Highlights of Ohio History
BY J. H. GALBRAITH

OHIO'S FIRST GREAT MOB.

It was just such a mob as is formed wherever a movement toward the use of violence is started that massacred the Christian Indians of the Ohio Moravian missions in the fall of 1781. It must be recalled that the border settlements in Ohio and western Pennsylvania had been attacked by unfriendly Indians, further west repeatedly. Some insisted the missions were used as outposts and sources of necessary information by the belligerent Indians.

It was easy to take the missions. There was no resistance. Some of the whites wanted to burn them, others wanted to kill them so their scalps might be taken back to the settlement for exhibition. Finally, the question was settled when one of the vehement whites grasped a cooper's mallet and started the massacre. There were 96 Christian Indians in all—41 men and 21 women.

Glancing Backward

TEN YEARS AGO.

It was Friday, Sept. 28, 1923.

Seventy-seven persons were drowned in the wreck of a Chicago, Burlington & Quincy passenger train which plunged off a bridge into the Big Muddy river near Casper, Wyo.

Jesse R. Murphy, 33, and John Williams, 30, pleaded guilty to a burglary charge when arraigned before Judge Grant E. Mouser, who sentenced each to serve 10 years in the penitentiary. The two had been caught in the act of burglarizing the J. H. Rawlings & Son store the morning of Sept. 9. Murphy later achieved considerable fame while a prisoner at the penitentiary by writing fiction which appeared in several magazines.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Forrest D. Miller of South Prospect street.

The Ridgedale High school football team opened the season by defeating Woodstock at Ridgedale, 34-13.

Marion county and nearby territory suffered the heaviest damage to corn crop from recent frosts, according to a report made by C. J. West of Columbus, federal-state crop statistician.

A news dispatch from Washington made known that President Coolidge and members of his cabinet would head the national organization being formed to obtain funds for a memorial to be erected in honor of the late President Harding.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

It was Sunday, Sept. 28, 1913.

Pastor Russell, widely known representative of the International Bible Students' association of Brooklyn, addressed a large audience at the armory here. He spoke on the subject, "Beyond the Grave."

Mrs. H. C. Rinehart, 43, died at her home on East George street.

The sixth annual reunion of the children of the late F. J. Strawser and Daniel Strawser was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Koenig on Olney avenue.

Mrs. A. Stahl entertained at a family dinner in honor of her daughter, Miss Stella Stark and her fiance, Arthur Leser of Jacksonville, Fla. who were to be married soon.

Miss Dessa Marie Benedict of Waldo, and Harry O. Coleman of Marion were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Benedict in Waldo, by Rev. Leroy V. Simms, pastor of the Waldo M. E. church.

Washington And Wall Street

BY GEORGE DURNO.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—Speculation on when and whether General Hugh Johnson will drop the controls as chief pilot of the Blue Eagle is getting to be a popular Washington pastime.

Generally it seems to have been agreed that Johnson went into the big job as an organizer and that when NRA is cooking fairly well he will retire.

The news is that Donald Richberg's name is being buzzed around the corridors to succeed him.

Of course it may be that the wish is father to the thought. NRA's general counsel is an outstanding figure in organized labor circles and his appointment certainly would please the union men.

By the same token it might not sit so well with the industrialists who have to come here with hat and code in hand.

But the report is worth a look. Richberg has been in on NRA since the Blue Eagle was hatched and knows all its little idiosyncrasies. And he draws $12,000 salary to Johnson's $9,000.

Dictionary.

The boys around the Eagle roost are wondering what became of a brand new interpretation of the competitive bidding clause that was to have come from Richberg's office several days ago.

General Johnson in his Labor Day speech at Chicago said in so many words that NRA did NOT sponsor the closed shop but merely the right of employees to select their own representatives. Representatives of industry promptly began hammering away for a formal ruling to that effect. They recalled that Johnson and Richberg had said the phrase "open shop" and "closed shop" had no place in the NRA dictionary.

Word was given out about a week ago that such a ruling had been prepared. There it didn't appear. The chances are it won't.

Organized labor got wind of the situation. They said: Let the Act speak for itself. It seems quite clear.

Heels.

There has been one shoe pinch under the New Deal that stranger[illegible] enough has had no publicity.

The tossing around took place in the bureau of internal revenue and quite a few eye teeth were jarred loose.

R. C. Prettyman, new [illegible] counsel, did the job. He is the lawyer who represented [illegible] Couzens of Michigan in the latter's tax wrangle with former Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

When Prettyman was sworn in the first thing he did was look around very carefully. What he saw amazed him.

He discovered cases that had been lying on bureau attorneys' desks for as long as two years without even being touched.

He also found that a lot of desk tops were badly scarred from the heels.

The heels came off the desks pronto and went right out the front door. Even the fact they belonged to ex-congressmen in some instances didn't bother Prettyman in his house-cleaning.

In an effort to catch up with his horribly jammed docket the general counsel shot some of his best desk men into the field to try cases.

And a system was devised to check cases in the future. The top office will know in short order from now on who is gold-bricking.

Slated.

A very definite rumor is floating the rounds that Guy T. Helvering will resign as commissioner of internal revenue by Jan. 1.

Necessity of returning to [illegible] vate business is the reason given in some quarters.

Political considerations [illegible] ascribed in others.

Overdone.

A new order is being drafted in patronage distribution.

In the future Democratic [illegible] will look askance at the claims of men who made big contributions to the party treasury and seek to place their fair-haired boys in responsible key positions of the Government service.

Too much endorsement is now as embarrassing to a job hunter as not enough.

One man is knocking at the patronage door right now. He is endorsed by both of his Senators, his state and county chairmen, a White House relative—and a gentleman from another state who gave many thousands to the campaign fund.

He wants a particular job in Washington.

Those in charge here have offered him a place in his home state. They can't overlook the indorsements but they're wondering why he brought so many and has been so set on a particular spot.

Recognition.

If those reputedly close to the President can be believed, Mr. Roosevelt is growing just a little distrustful of Russian recognition at the present moment.

They say he has about made up his mind to wait until Congress assembles and let them shoulder the yoke with him.

This despite a noticeable decrease in anti-recognition propaganda.

Notes.

First signs of activity in the Republican camp looking to 1936 are beginning to show. Representative Wadsworth of N. Y., House Minority Leader Snell and Senate Minority Leader McNary all will be in the running for the nomination no doubt... Ogden Mills still has hopes but his friends don't share it generally ...Three cases on the fall docket of the U. S. Supreme Court involve negroes' rights in the South. One attacks the Louisiana "understanding" law which requires a person to understand the Constitution before being allowed to vote...The other two allege negroes can't get fair treatment in Virginia and Maryland because members of their race are barred from jury duty.

BY JAMES M'MULLIN.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28. — The keenest New York observers say that the farm revolt has more serious implications than most people realize.

Confidential reports received here indicate that farmers in various parts of the country are sore as blazes at NRA because their living costs have gone up rapidly while the prices of the goods they sell have stood still or dropped. They are getting the idea that the AAA program is a colossal flop and insist that nothing but actual inflation will do them any good.

It is predicted in high quarters that nothing Mr. Roosevelt can do will satisfy the farmers. They say inflation won't do it because it will tend to raise all prices and leave the relation between farm products and other goods where it is now. They believe the President would be wise to recognize this situation before Congress meets again.

The trouble is that the farmer's product is are fundamentally different from those of either labor or industrial capital. He needs an absolute price rise to do him any good. The increase in business turnover which helps city dwellers in good times doesn't mean a thing to him because the capacity to consume food and cotton clothing doesn't increase much with prosperity. If a manufacturer speeds up production as times improve he makes more money and presumably pays higher wages. If the farmer does the same thing he just raises a surplus that he can't get rid of. No wonder he never likes the dose prescribed for him.

If some bright genius would discover an industrial use for grains which would provide a market comparable to those for other industrial products it would solve the farmer's problem. Otherwise there don't seem to be any answer. Laboratory experiments now going on in the industrial alcohol field may pave the way for real progress in these lines.

Politics.

The political aspects are important. No one can tell yet what the farm bloc will do in the next Congress but its dollars to peanuts they will have plenty of ideas and be hard to hold in line. New York doubts that even Mr. Roosevelt's consummate political skill will keep them where he wants them—and that goes even if he takes inflationary measures meanwhile.

And that's where the despised stock market comes in. It may be childish but business and public psychology do react favorably to a buoyant market. Timely and judicious progress in the Wall Street marts would strengthen Mr. Roosevelt's hand. And then there's labor—which has reason to be pleased with New Deal benefactions.

It seems odd to ponder an alliance of Wall Street, big business and labor in support of the President, with agriculture in opposition. But it is politically possible to please the first three at one time if not the latter. There would be no cause to swoon with astonishment if the next Congressional picture is painted on those lines.

Cuba.

We don't want to intervene in Cuba but by gum if we have to we don't intend to do it alone.

New York hears confidentially that wires are being skillfully pulled to line up at least Argentina and Brazil for actual physical co-operation if intervention becomes necessary. That would be the neatest possible way to take the curse off "Yankee imperialism." The reports indicate that we've done a wonderful selling job to date.

Swank.

Lately a flashy bright blue roadster, monster body, has dazzled the eyes of hard-boiled New York pedestrians. The significant license plate "Dist. of Columbia 1-2-3" seems to relieve the driver of the burden of remembering all those irksome traffic regulations. Practically every day the vehicle is parked for several hours at a time in front of Vincent Astor's house. The owner is Professor Ray Moley.

Radio.

Plenty of army officers were among those present at the New York radio show's advance showing for the press. Most of them, representing the Army Signal Corps and the Military Intelligence Service, were in mufti. They inspected each new apparatus and gadget with minute interest; four or five exhibitors were taken aside for little conferences. When the show opened for the public at least one type of receiver and some intercepting devices were no longer on display.

Disciples.

The state department has a delicate job on its hands with some of its junior officers in Germany. A number of the consuls and vice-consuls have become interested in Nazi ideas and some have displayed their private views too openly during office hours. Mild reprimands have had no effect so far but no one wants to resort to the stronger measure of a shake-up. Very few foreign service officers are willing to accept a German assignment at present.

Goats.

The stage is set to make General Hines the goat for the Administration's economy program at the American Legion Convention. Somebody has to be it and he seems to be elected. Having served his purpose (which was foreseen when he was re-appointed Veteran's Bureau Administrator) he will be sacrificed with suitable provision for his future.

The pleasure of enjoying cock fights, publicly and legally, Puerto Ricans owe to the present to Puerto Rico by "the civilized nation," who thought having cock fights might attract tourists. If President Roosevelt is not so busy he might tell Puerto Rico governor that United States hoped it has gone beyond the cock fight stage of debating stage.

Don't Pay Over 25c For Medicine

Sufferers From Stomach Trouble, Weak Kidneys, Lazy Liver, Nervousness and General Rundown Condition:

Every person who suffers can have a full-size trial bottle of the modern medicine containing TWENTY medicinal EXTRACTS to try for 25 cents. Simply read the offer below. Do this in your own interest.

"TWENTY EXTRACTS" has helped 87 per cent of the people who have taken it. Therefore we offer the first trial bottle at 25 CENTS because we believe the people who are benefited will keep on using it. The regular full-size price of this medicine is $1.35.

Twenty Extracts is a new and scientific liquid compound of twenty of Nature's Finest Ingredients, and not one a habit-forming drug. It is taken after meals and mixes with the food in one's stomach, thus throwing off the poisons that foster stomach troubles and permitting the kidneys and liver to function properly. It acts within 10 minutes to stop gas and pains, sourness, bloat and belching. It will not gripe or nauseate you like ordinary liver remedies. It will work the bile from the liver as black as ink. At the same time, Twenty Extracts drives the poisons from the kidneys and relieves backaches, bladder irritation and weakness. Relieves children from bed-wetting in a few days. Strengthens the nerves by natural means.

Now, whether Twenty Extracts will help you as it has thousands of others—whether it will end your suffering in a day or a week—remains to be seen. But in light of what it has done for others, it is surely a mistake not to try it for 25 CENTS, only a fraction of the actual cost. This introductory offer is good Friday and Saturday ONLY, so read the rest of this announcement and act at once. Do this in fairness to yourself and your family.

What 20 Extracts Will Do.

It will cleanse your bowels (gradually—not drastic or severe), as they were NEVER CLEANSED BEFORE.

It will bring out awful gases and impurities (frequently from the first dose), which may have been inside you for a long time, causing you many days of misery with headaches, dizzy spells, skin eruptions and lazy, drowsy, tired feeling.

Twenty Extracts will relieve acid conditions and make the digestive organs sweet and clean and give complete relief from indigestion. It will give you the greatest appetite you EVER HAD IN YOUR LIFE.

Twenty Extracts will act as a diuretic to sluggish kidneys and flush out quantities of impurities that may have become dammed up inside, causing BACKACHE, SHARP PAINS and RISING AT NIGHT.

It will make your liver more active, will clear away old bile deposits, thus relieving spells of biliousness and sick headache.

Relieves rheumatism and neuritis, giving quick relief from pain.

It will put a stop to the skin eruptions that are caused by the impurities in the organs, will overcome the sallowness or "muddiness" that is due to sluggish liver, and will put the ROSY GLOW OF HEALTH into your cheeks. The unfailing remedy for female complaints.

Twenty Extracts will make your stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels more active, build you up in general and make you LOOK, ACT and FEEL like a DIFFERENT MAN OR WOMAN, years younger than your real age.

To get your first bottle for 25 cents (Friday and Saturday ONLY) bring the coupon to the store below or send with stamps or coin to Twenty Extracts Co., Columbus, Ohio.

His name was Jim Riddell.

He was married.

He had married Nesta Williams ... Grove Road registry office ...

He had been on his way to Glas... when the Alice Arden came ...

He had been going to Glasgow to "get off the map."

He ran his hands through his hair and asked himself why—and why—and why?

Why had he married a woman who hadn't the faintest atom of attraction for him? You may marry a woman for her looks or for money, or for ambition, or for purely animal reasons, or for pity, or because you happen to love her.

Not a single one of these reasons applied to Nesta Riddell. She was not an object of pity; the Williams were certainly not well-to-do, and mentally and physically she repelled him.

Over and above all this, he had a sense of her strangeness. He could not believe that he had held her in his arms, that they had kissed. She was stranger to him than someone whom he had never met—far more deeply strange than any of the forgotten people on the wrong side of the black gulf which cut him off from his past.

HE LEFT that.

Why had he been going to Glasgow?

Nesta had given him the answer—to "get off the map."

Why had he got to "get off the map?"

The answer to that was somewhere on the other side of the gulf.

He went over everything that had happened yesterday down to the time when he had fallen asleep to the faint sound of an orchestra through the partition wall. He had slept without waking, but not without dreaming.

He leaned his head on his hands, and knew that those sleeping hours had not been spent in unconsciousness. The shadows of swift clashing events moved in them. They were like the shadows of fierce darting fish seen through waters veiled by mist. Mist—fog. Fog came into it—fog, and a voice.

His voice? Behind the fog, strange violent things, happening at an incredible speed, flashing through his mind too quickly to be grasped...like beads of light, strung on a dark chain...like a kid's green beads.

For an instant he saw a small brightly lighted picture. The light came from above, and swinging to and fro beneath it was a string of square green stones. They swung from a man's hand. There were eight of them—big, square, green stones; a double chain of pearls between every two.

He saw the man's hand, and the square green stones, and the pearls, and the light shining down on them. The voice said, "Like a kid's green beads," and everything went dark.

Some time after this Nesta was at the door. He thanked heaven that he was up and dressed. If he had had to lie there whilst she sat on the edge of his bed and talked, he might not be able to hide the violence of his recoil. Women always bullied a man when they had him at a disadvantage.

The thought of yesterday set his teeth on edge. Today they would meet on equal terms, and he would try and remember that the situation was a horrible one for her. For himself it was very nearly intolerable. He hadn't a job, and as far as he knew, he hadn't a penny in the world.

What was he to do? Live on Nesta—borrow from Nesta? The situation was not only nearly, but quite, intolerable.

These thoughts went to and fro in his mind as they sat at breakfast in the small hot kitchen.

Tom Williams bolted a couple of rashers of bacon, gulped down his tea and was off, saying that he would be late. The chug-chug of his motorcycle came back through the thin walls of the little house.

WITH recovered confidence Nesta began to tell him how wonderful Tom was at almost everything—"Why, he can cook as well as I can. And every bit of paper in this house is what he hung himself." It was a great relief to have Mim's prattle to get them through the meal. She had shy smiles for him now and no longer kept her eye on the door. So much for a shave!

When breakfast was over, he spoke to Nesta directly.

"Is there somewhere where we can talk?"

With no more than a nod she led the way into the parlor, with its saddle-back suite in bright shades of red and blue, its crimson Axminster square, and its silver photograph frames.

Into this room, so new, so garish, so commonplace, there came these two angry, incongruous people, and at once its slight emptiness became charged with strain, pressure, resistance.

Nesta waited for him to begin. She stood with her back to the window, leaning forward over one of the red and blue chairs in a would-be easy attitude. He walked to the woolly mat in front of the fire, and said what he had planned to say.

"This is a rotten deal for you. I want to tell you I'm awfully sorry about it."

Heavens! How incredibly difficult she made it! His words, his efforts to get her point of view, slipped back from the hard surface she turned towards him. It was like seeing a fly slip on a pane of glass. She was angry, hard, resentful, cold.

But there was something else. He could feel the pressure of her will. Why should she be putting out her will against him like this? It got his back up. It made it too difficult to feel or say the decent thing. What was she to him after all, but a stranger whom he disliked?

He said, "I really am sorry," and the room filled again with her scornful silence.

She stood there leaning over the back of the chair with bright close-set eyes and just a hint of an angry curl in breaking the straight line of her lips. There was something secret about that smile, something that said, "Take care. I can be even worse than I look."

He spoke before he knew what he was going to say.

"Why do you look at me like that? What's behind all this?"

"Ah," said Nesta very softly. "You'd like to know, wouldn't you?"

To Be Continued.

The Young People Discuss—Skeptically — Avis Arlen's Powers of Fascination.

BY ADELE GARRISON.

THERE WAS something in Marion's voice, as she said that I couldn't tell her that Major Grantland had asked Avis to share his car on the drive to the beach, which again brought the quick blood to my cheeks. I felt that the incredulity in her voice had a touch of mischievous diablerie in it; that it was not based alone upon skepticism concerning Avis Arlen's powers of fascination, but held in it an amused appreciation of the undeniable fact that Hugh had never shown any woman but myself even the semblance of attention.

It was to the confusion resulting from this conviction that I attribute the unbelievably stupid thing I said next; but at the moment it seemed to me imperative that I should contradict this apparent impression that Hugh was forever "attached to my apron strings."

Edith Fairfax's Refusal.

"Yes, she asked him," I said hurriedly, "but I think Major Grantland was delighted to accept her invitation, because only a moment before he had asked Miss Fairfax to go with him, and she had refused."

"What!"

Marion's voice fairly dripped skepticism. "How—if he asked Edith Fairfax to go anywhere with him, it was only because—"

She stopped short; what I was sure was a pretended fit of coughing. But I could guess only too truly what she had begun to say. She had meant to make the comment that Hugh would only ask Edith to accompany him if in some way it were serving me, but she had stopped short, horrified at the crassness of her remark.

"Why did Miss Fairfax turn Major Grantland down?" Carolyn asked. "I should call him the answer to a business girl's prayer."

An Artistic Worker.

Her voice broke off abruptly, and she stiffened perceptibly. She was too clever to betray herself by an exclamation, but I knew that Marion had stopped her query with an effective kick or a pinch.

"What I want to know," Marion said hurriedly, "is how the Arlen managed to put it over. You admit she invited him. Be a dear, Auntie Madge, and tell us what she said."

She was talking against time I knew, trying to cover the unfortunate comment she almost had made as well as Carolyn's query. But I was as embarrassed and humiliated as if she had finished her first sentence, and Carolyn's question had been answered.

To Marion, at least, Hugh's devotion to me—yes, and the embarrassment Edith Fairfax's pursuit of Dicky caused me — were no secrets, and I could not help feeling furiously chagrined that this young daughter of Lillian should have this knowledge.

There was but one thing to do, however, and I did it.

"I shall do nothing of the kind," I said, forcing a laugh. "Perhaps if you ask Avis, when she comes in, she will tell you all about it. I shall make only one comment. She is what I believe you call an artistic worker."

"Artistic worker!" Bob exploded in high derision. "Begging your pardon, Mrs. Graham, but I can't help but believe that you're being extra kind to her. That girl isn't artistic. She uses a trowel and a spading fork in her work."

"Hu-h!" Carolyn said abruptly. "I hear cars coming in the driveway."

Lineup Juggled

A new combination in Capital university's lineup clicked in practice. Reyner Torrence of Girard, a substitute halfback for two years, and Jan Lallos of New Kensington, Pa., looked well at the ends.

Kent State finished its training for the Muskingum clash with a light scrimmage.

John Carroll university's varsity tried its tricks on the frosh squad and found they were good for seven touchdowns.

In a practice game yesterday Johnny Heller scored three touchdowns on runs of 40-32 and 28 yards as the Dayton Fliers worked against the freshmen line-up.

TOMMY LOUGHRAN GAINS DECISION IN FIGHT WITH SHARKEY

Former Heavyweight Champ Floored Once in Tenth Round of Clash.

By The Associated Press

PHILA[illegible] [illegible] Jean [illegible] the [illegible] key [illegible] record [illegible] Tommy [illegible] up.

Sharkey [illegible] early [illegible] week, [illegible] headed home for Boston. The [illegible] that he drove [illegible] faster he drove away from the fight game, apparently forever.

In Baker bowl last night Sharkey came to the end of the trail. Tommy Loughran pecked his eyes with left jabs through 10 rounds, stood up under a terrific body bombardment, grinned back courage from a blood stained face, and the end won a close decision.

Tommy Loughran

The crowning blow was a [illegible] hand punch Tommy [illegible] Sharkey's face in the tenth [illegible] a desperate smash that landed on the bridge of the former [illegible] weight champion's nose, [illegible] knocked Sharkey to his [illegible] stunned, though he came [illegible] out a count.

[illegible] go, no one has seen the former [illegible] go, no one has seen the leather dusting Loughran, famous for his boxing but never for punching power a rival. In Tommy's career [illegible] long before he won the light heavyweight championship, there appears a couple of technical knockouts. But never has he seriously hurt a rival since gaining the top notch ranks a dozen years ago.

It was an evening of sweet triumph for Loughran, even though he got no pay and the gate receipts scarcely covered the $25,000 guarantee paid Sharkey. Four years ago, when a heavyweight title chance was at stake, Sharkey stormed into Tommy in the third round of a battle in the Yankee stadium, whipped an overhand right into the head of a boxer who should have laughed at such an unorthodox punch, and stretched him to the canvas.

Who's Going To Stop Michigan in Big Ten?

Even With Harry Newman Gone, The Wolverines Have Them All Worried.

By The Associated Press

[illegible] O — Just how vital [illegible] Newman all-America gang[illegible] was to Michigan's football [illegible] year may be answered [illegible] Big Ten free-for-[illegible]

A set man for man the same [illegible] team which aided by [illegible] Newman field goals [illegible] passes to touchdowns [illegible] wallops to touchdowns, points [illegible] touchdowns and what not, [illegible] undisputed 1932 title will [illegible] the field again this fall.

Lay-out for the unique importance of Newman's part in Wolverine [illegible] across the roster of returning Michigan letter-winners would make the Maize and Blue almost an odds-on favorite for the 1933 conference championship.

Even as it is, "Who's gonna stop Michigan?" is a question no Big Ten expert dares try to answer.

Regular For Every Position

In his bid for the fourth successive league title Michigan has [illegible] or won Coach Harry Kipke [illegible] have more than enough regulars from the 1932 team to fill all positions. The Wolverines shared the 1931 crown with Purdue and Northwestern and the 1930 title with the Purple. These same [illegible] once again appear Michigan's most dangerous rivals.

[illegible] skilled backs as Fay, Reg[illegible] Everhardus, Heston, Oliver [illegible] Renner and Westover [illegible] Kipke reasons, be able to [illegible] their talents to execute [illegible] of the manifold chores New[illegible] personally took care of last [illegible]

As for the Maize and Blue line, [illegible] vacancy, that of Ivan Williams at end, will be filled by no [illegible] an athlete than Willis Ward [illegible] track star who made his [illegible] last year. At the other end [illegible] Ted Petoskey, a first rate [illegible]

There are three centers—all-conference Chuck Bernard, Ford and [illegible] a pair of guards, Kowalik and Savage, and three tackles, Wistert Austin and Hildebrand, all regulars in 1932.

Those Boilermaker Backs

Purdue will need to fill some gaping holes in the line, notably those left by Center Oehler, End Moss and Guard Leisinger. If the Boilermaker backfield aces hope to continue the ground-gaining spree they have enjoyed. Tackles Fehring and Fingers, Guard Peters and End Lowery represent a good start on this task.

In the backfield, smashing Roy Horstmann, fullback, will be missing but Hecker, Purvis, Carter, Pardonner, Riblet, Peelle and Keegan will round out a backfield that can step with the best.

Northwestern lost Pug Rentner's individual brilliance, but 16 lettermen return, including Backs Olson and Sullivan, Tackle Riley, Guard Kawal and several crack ends. These, with a fine crop of sophomores, make Purple prospects rosy. Dick Hardy's line will be young, but huge and faster than his 1932 forward array.

Minnesota and Ohio State apparently belong again in the dark horse class. Both have many vets returning and Minnesota is rich in sophomores.

Illini Has 19 Lettermen

Illinois figures to continue the drive begun at mid-season in 1932 to bounce out of the second division. Coach Bob Zuppke counts heavily on improved morale shown by his youngsters, of whom there are 19 lettermen.

Doc Clarence Spears has little hope of duplicating his 1932 third-place performance with a Wisconsin team to be molded around only eight lettermen. Chicago looks for an all-around revival under its new coach, Clark Shaughnessy, and with a group of sophomores far above anything the midway has known for a decade.

Indiana and Iowa both expect to be much stronger, but competition for all the higher rungs on the Big Ten ladder is so intense they'll have to exceed past performances by a great deal to get out of the second division.

YANKS BREAK EVEN IN DOUBLE HEADER WITH PHILADELPHIA

Giants Also Split, Winning First But Losing Nightcap.

By The Associated Press

With a few [illegible] breaks it might have been [illegible] of those odd standings [illegible] New York Yankees or Philadelphia Athletics who walked off with the American league pennant instead of Washington's [illegible]

Those two clubs who [illegible] monopolized the flag for the [illegible] even years still are [illegible] playing plenty of good [illegible] But through the [illegible] neither developed a slab [illegible] ment that could stand up under the strain of pennant [illegible] race. When the pressure of the [illegible] chase both started winning [illegible] and when they split a [illegible] header yesterday it was the [illegible] tenth victory in 20 games [illegible] each. The Yanks had four [illegible] and a tie in the string [illegible] A five defeats.

Playing the same brand of [illegible] both teams came out early [illegible] bargain bill. Lefty Gomez was [illegible] the strength and weakness [illegible] effective on the hill than [illegible] Grove in the opener and the [illegible] ees won 7 to 0. Johnny Marcum, the rookie wonder from [illegible] mile gave Philadelphia the [illegible] ing in the after piece and [illegible] third major league victory [illegible]

The final run-up of the New York Giants' pitchers for the [illegible] series in a double-header with the Phillies completed the day's [illegible] program. Carl Hubbell, slated to start the first game against the Senators got timely support from the New York regulars and won 3-1 but Hal Schumacher found the backing of the reserve less effective and took a 6 to 0 trimming.

Ohio Bobcats Ready for Season's Opener Saturday

By The Associated Press

ATHENS, O., Sept. 28—After three weeks of diligent practice the Ohio university Bobcats are anxiously awaiting the first opportunity to display their wares under fire, when Morris Harvey college of West Virginia plays here Saturday afternoon.

Coach Don Peden, who will open his tenth season at the Ohio helm, has been slowly rounding a grid machine into shape to carry the Bobcats battle this fall. A nucleus of experienced players and a large group of ambitious sophomores will be in the lineup for the opener which will be followed by games with Purdue, Franklin and Miami during the next three weeks.

With new combinations and numerous sophomores fated for a testing Saturday the Ohio coach has promised fans more than their money's worth in the hid-lift. Virtually every candidate who has shown any ability probably will see action. Several backs are ready to handle the kicking and passing assignments, while linemen graduated from last years frosh squad will plug a line torn to shreds by the June commencement.

Elmer Peaspanen of Ashtabula and Bob Snyder of Toledo, both sophomores are outstanding candidates for the "tail-back" post although Kimber Boyer of Cortland tackle has been getting away some good punts and Woolrow Wade, former Columbus West star has shown up well in passing. Bill Schmidt of Columbus, Sam Horanick of Canton, George Harvey of Toledo and John Kleft of Toledo, all new men, probably will see service in the backfield along with Mattay Fehn of Canton, Ralph Robinette of McArthur and Elmer Armbrust of Washington Courthouse, all experienced ball carriers.

In addition to Bob Hilbert of Piqua; Pete Stephan of Sidney; Bill Snyder of London; Ken Bennett of Newcomerstown; Pop Kessler of Dover, and Walter Proode of Middleport, varsity upperclass linemen, a large amount of new forward wall material is available.

HORSESHOE TOSSERS WILL PLAN SEASON

N.C.O. League and Marion Both Call Organization Meetings.

The North Central Ohio Horseshoe league will reorganize for the coming season next Saturday night in Galion, Rev. Carl V. Roop, of Marion, an official of the league, announced today. The schedule will be drawn up and plans made for the season. The [illegible] teams as competed last year are expected to be in action next season. They are Marion, Mansfield, Bucyrus, Shelby, Tiffin and Galion.

Rev. Roop also announced that the Marion Sunday school league will be organized next Tuesday. Rev. Roop said that interested schools have a representative at the meeting and [illegible] requests that all those wishing positions on the Marion [illegible] league team be on hand at that time. The meeting is called for 7:30 p. m. at the Y. M. C. A.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

START OF BOWLING DELAYED FOR WEEK

Because of the delay in arrival of part of the equipment for the new alleys the opening of Rodenfels Recreation bowling alleys will be postponed one week, Manager Chuck Rodenfels announced today. The alleys were originally scheduled to open Sunday, Oct. 1, but the opening is now set for Sunday, Oct. 8.

The first day's receipts at the alleys will be turned over to the Harding High school Booster club.

MONTIE WEAVER

This is the ninth of a series of sketches on individual stars of the Washington Senators and New York Giants, world series rivals.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON—The ailing right arm of Montie Weaver came around this season when Manager Joe Cronin and the Nationals were beginning to despair over their pitching staff.

"On August 5," says Cronin, "when Montie took the mound and beat the Red Sox and then four days later came back and [illegible] the Yanks—that was one of the happiest weeks of my life."

Montie had proved a [illegible] in 1932 when he signed [illegible] year in the majors by winning [illegible] games. He was of little [illegible] Nats for the first part of the 1933 campaign because of illness. But in August he returned to form and began showing the stuff that made him feared a year ago.

Montie pitches either side arm or overhand. His curve ball has been described as one of the best and should keep the Giants worried.

He quit the classroom where he was teaching geometry in the University of Virginia to take up baseball as a career.

He made his debut with the Baltimore club in 1930 and was sold to Washington for the 1932 campaign.

Montie is another of those North Carolina pitchers having been born in Hilton, N. C., June 15, 1906. He is a six footer and weighs 175 pounds. He bats left.

WHEAT BOARD HEAD NAMED

Harvey H. Berringer of Near Prospect President of Crop Organization.

Harvey H. Berringer of near Prospect was elected president of the board of directors of the Wheat Production Control Association of Marion county in an organization meeting last night in the wheat office in the Marion National bank building.

Other officers are Dr Cecil P Harper of near Marion, vice president; Levi H. Hite of near Morral, secretary, and Otis E. Parks of near Marion, treasurer

Emmet L Trout, representing Claridon township and Frank Montgomery of near Agosta, were elected members of the county allotment committee. Berringer will serve as the chairman of the allotment committee

Gilbert in Charge

R H Gilbert, emergency agricultural assistant for the county, presided over the meeting, which opened with a discussion and adoption of the rules and regulations of the articles of the association The board will be in charge of this county's acceptance of the government's wheat reduction plan.

Contract applications representing more than 50 per cent of the wheat farms in Marion county have been filed, Gilbert reported, representing more than two-thirds of the wheat acreage of the county

Voting power of the directors is determined by the average number of bushels of wheat produced in his community during the base period from 1930 to 1932, inclusive The total number represented by votes last night was 231,479. The number voted by the director from each community was reported as follows

Community Yields

Two Women Claim Job; Both Await Developments at Columbus.

Special to The Star

MT GILEAD, O Sept 28 The county seat town of 1,800 population is the rival bidders for automobile license plate sales for the last three weeks while two women awaited developments to determine who will be Mt Gilead's next deputy registrar of motor vehicles

It was announced three weeks ago that Mrs George Clark, Democrat and active party worker, had been appointed deputy commissioner in the office of the registrar at Columbus She was to have succeeded Mrs Martha Campbell, Republican, who has been deputy for several years

Mrs Campbell reported by her attorney has refused to relinquish the office for her deputy and supply of license plates awaiting development of the transfer of the motor vehicle bureau from the secretary of state's office to the highway department When this transfer was announced Wednesday by terms of the supreme court ruling, Mrs Campbell was said to have taken new steps of retaining her position

Inquiry into Columbus political circles as to who is the most probable winner in the unusual contest brought up the possibility that both of the present deputy commissioners may be removed The logic was this Mrs Campbell is a Republican and her reappointment under a Democratic administration is improbable; Mrs Clark is reported to have carried to Columbus petitions seeking to defeat the transfer of the bureau of motor vehicles from the office of the secretary of state to the highway department, and in so doing is believed to have incurred the disfavor of Governor White at the highway department Consequently, local political sages say, Mrs Clark may not be in line for the job if the highway department does the appointing that the soldiers' relief commission is exercising its right to demand more funds to meet relief needs growing out of the federal government's reduction of compensation to soldiers

For charity, the commissioners seek $15,000 as compared with $9,290 spent in charity work in 1932 Blind relief, another form of charity, will require $8,500 next year, as compared with $6,684 spent in 1932, the commissioners estimated. A slight increase is noted in the item for mothers' pensions, for which $6,560 is sought as compared with $8,250 in 1932 Still another increase which is generally classified as charity is represented by the request for $19,309 for the children's home as compared with $17,653 spent in the home in 1932

The budget calls for reductions in the operating expenses of most of the county offices. Among these is the request for $9,300 for the surveyor's office as compared with $10,882 spent in that office in 1932. For the recorder's office, $3,975 is listed in the budget as compared with $5,072 spent in that office in 1932 For the upkeep of the courthouse and jail, $15,720 is sought, as compared with $17,242 spent for the same purpose in 1932 For the commissioners' office, $5,791 is sought as compared with expenses of $6,570 in that office in 1932. For the auditor's office, $14,490 was requested as compared with 1932 expenditures of $17,810 in that office. The budget calls for $6,900 for the office of clerk of courts, as compared with 1932 expenditures of $7,676 in that office.

Another saving is represented by the budget request for $22,000 for the county home as compared with $25,328 spent there in 1932.

ants in the $200,000 kidnap case with George Kelly, gunman arrested in Memphis The others are R G. (Boss) Shannon, his wife, Ora and his son, Armon, and the five Minneapolis and St Paul men Barney Berman, Clifford Skelly Isadore Blumenfeld, Sam Kronick and Sam Kozberg

Keenan referred to the unusual spectacle of four separate groups of defendants linked in the same case.

"It would seem that kidnaping has become a modern art," he said 'It requires the 'spotters,' those who determine that the intended victim can pay, it requires the actual 'snatchers,' the bold outlaws who smash their way into a home in the dead of night to whisk away their victim at the point of machine guns.

"The third group comprises the guardsmen and those who hide the victim from the searching public spurred by the outraged community.

"Fourth, and not less important are the money changers, the slippery, slimy creatures, scheming in the manner and fashion of the modern fences, who exchange the marked currency into money that cannot be identified

"It is self evident they are equally guilty with those who originally plotted and carried out the abduction.

"It is because of the far-flung activities of those extorters that the federal government must step in and help the states whose laws and peace officers are powerless beyond their own boundaries"

"—my skin became clear..."

—and you don't know what a happy day that was in my life." Then why not pause a moment and reason in a common sense way the cause of many skin troubles. Such common ailments often result because of a lowered resistance below the skin surface—frequently due to lowered blood vitality.

Increase the red blood cells and their hemoglobin content and more of the life giving oxygen is carried to every part of the body—even to the skin. "Step up" the ability of the resisting cells to devour infectious pimple germs. Then you will have laid the foundation for a sounder physical condition.

FORD WILL COMPLY WITH CODE OF NRA

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 28—Officials of the Ford Motor Co. today said the plant will be operated on a five-day, 40-hour week, with a complete shutdown several days each month to bring the average down to the 36 hours prescribed by the NRA automobile code which the company has not signed.

The officials said it was planned originally to operate the plant on a four-day, 32-hour basis, followed later by a period of five-day, 40-hour operation to bring the average to 35 hours a week.

That plan, officials said, has been abandoned.

The Dearborn NRA compliance board tonight is expected to receive several hundred complaints which NRA officials said have been made by former Ford employes who claimed they were dismissed to make way for the newly-hired veterans

The Ford company has denied that any employes have been dismissed to make way for the veterans being hired

Gentlemen:

I welcome this opportunity to put on record the benefits I have enjoyed from using ZZZ Tablets purchased at your drugstore.

About three years ago last September my physician advised me that my complication of gall, liver and appendix ailments had reached a point that my only hope for recovery rested with the success of a serious abdominal operation. His examinations showed my physical condition to be such that the hope of a successful operation appeared extremely doubtful.

With this discouraging prospect before me, I tried taking ZZZ Tablets and have continued them until this time. I feel that I am completely cured of all my gall and liver ailments and am ready to verify this letter at any time and recommend your remedy to any who may inquire.

Yours very truly,
(Signed)
Mrs. J. W. Tucker

Gentlemen:

I welcome this opportunity to put on record the benefits I have enjoyed from using ZZZ Tablets purchased at your drugstore.

About three years ago last September my physician advised me that my complication of gall, liver and appendix ailments had reached a point that my only hope for recovery rested with the success of a serious abdominal operation. His examinations showed my physical condition to be such that the hope of a successful operation appeared extremely doubtful.

With this discouraging prospect before me, I tried taking ZZZ Tablets and have continued them until this time. I feel that I am completely cured of all my gall and liver ailments and am ready to verify this letter at any time and recommend your remedy to any who may inquire.

Yours very truly,
(Signed)
Mrs. J. W. Tucker,
Route 2,

Mrs. Tucker is not alone in her experience with ZZZ Tablets. We have many customers willing to testify to their excellent qualities in cleaning and stimulating a sluggish or ailing liver and gall bladder. One month's treatment in a $3.75 box.

SWOLLEN RIVERS ADD TO TAMPICO DAMAGE

Food Supply Diminishing, No Water Available in Stricken Area.

By The Associated Press

TAMPICO, Mex., Sept. 28—The rain-swollen Panuco and Tamesi rivers rose steadily above flood levels today and brought further destruction to this port, already prostrate from Sunday's hurricane.

Heavy rains fell west of here and the national observatory warned that tropical storms might continue until Oct. 15.

Scattered reports from near-by towns told of additional deaths, injuries and property damage.

Military and federal authorities put forth herculean efforts to meet their needs for food, water and medicines. It was believed the water supply could not be restored for five or six days.

With its food supply rapidly diminishing, Tampico awaited with growing anxiety the arrival from Monterrey of a train with food and medicine and soldiers to help in reconstruction work.

The train was delayed by floods. It cannot reach this city planes were afloat to import supplies by air until the arrival of a steamship from Vera Cruz.

1934 HARDIN COUNTY BUDGET IS ADOPTED

Board Approves Measure for $361,134.98; $159,888.12 from General Tax.

Special to The Star

KENTON, Sept. 28 — Hardin county commissioners yesterday adopted a budget of expenditures for 1934, quoting a total outlay of $361,134.98 for the year, only $159,888.12 of which is to be provided by the general property tax. This figure is slightly lower than the budget adopted for 1933.

Included in the detailed statement were estimates of a total balance in all funds of the county, of $71,476.86, on January 1, 1934; that the general property tax would raise the needed $159,888.12 necessary to increase the general fund; that the county would receive $85,000 in 1934 from the motor vehicle and gasoline tax revenues; and that revenue from other sources would provide $44,770, making the grand total of $361,134.98 needed.

KENTON—Miss Adda Moore, retired public school music teacher here, fell Wednesday on rear steps at her home and sustained a fractured hip.
